YOU
MAY BE DIGGING INTO UNDERGROUND
UTILITIES

Many utility lines are underground. Out of the way and out of sight. And there may be one just where you're planning to dig that sewer, that foundation, or that well.

If you hit and damage telephone cable, everybody loses. Your job gets held up. We have to make repairs. People are deprived of some service - and they get mad at both of us.

It's so easy to avoid this kind of trouble. We'll check out the location in a jiffy and let you know where the cables are.

SO BEFORE YOU DIG CALL

IMPORTANT: DAMAGE LIABILITY

The Underground Utility Damage Prevention Act of July 18, 1978, provides for a penalty of $1,000 to the person doing the excavating if he has not contacted the Utility involved.
